HOW RELLY'S MEN HEATED THE WASHINGTON CLUB YESTERDAY.

Wretched Fielding Gives the Cincinnati Team an Overwhelming Victory-The Local Men Badly Demoralized-What the Other Clubs Have Done-Diamond Dust.

The biggest crowd, except the one which witnessed the opening game, of the sea-op thronged National Park yesterday afternoon to see the home team take a game from Kelly's Cincinnati team. They were disappointed, for the local men gave an exhibition that was positively disgrace ful. There can be no excuse for such playing, and when managerial incapacity contributed to the demoralization of the team, as was so plainly evident, it was a foregone conclusion that his men were destined to an overwhelming defeat,

Miller was put in to pitch, and the first two men who faced him gave easy oppor-tunities for outs, but Hatfield and Loh-man made the rankest kind of errors. It was horrible support, and the Jersey twirler lost his bead. The next man went to his base on balls, and Canavan made a to his base on balls, and Canavan made a triple, clearing the bases. A couple of passed balls, a base on balls, and a single sent in another run, and then Manager Snyder concluded it was time to take Miller out, and did so, substituting Mace. Errors were as plentiful as hits, however, and when the inning ended Cincinnati had seven tailles. Bases on balls, two errors, and three hits gave them four more in the second, and Mace gave way to Hatlield, who, for the remainder of the game, pitched creditably.

"I am glad of my change," he said, "because Washington is so near Baltimore, and I can sometimes visit my relatives in the playing season. I have not been allowed to pitch a single game in Gincinnati this year, although I have played in the outlicid several times. The trouble with the club is that it has two factions which are working against each other, and it was for that reason that I was released. The team is playing very poorly, and no one need be surprised because it is at the tail end of the League. Latham is captaining the club excellently and is in great form this season. I do not propose to surrender my rights under the three years' contract I signed with ex-President Stern, and I can compel its enforcement if I desire." Foreman expects to report to-day in Washington, with whose club he signed at the recommendation of the St. Louis officers. He was delayed on his trip east by a railroad accident at Newark, Ohio. Foreman's old catcher, Quinn, who was paired with him in Baltimore, is now a member of the Syracuse Club.

Secretary Munson of the Browns, who as President Von der Ahe's representative has taken an active part in the affairs of the Cincinnati Club, has received advices that Sunday games will be played hereafter regularly in that city. "The theatres are open in Cincinnati on Sanday," he said, 'and the people, if allowed access to such amusement resorts, want to have baseball also.
